Waterway Guide Releases Northern and Great Lakes 2007 Editions

All Four 2007 Waterway Guides Now Available

Annapolis, Md.—Waterway Guide, America's most complete and trusted resource for cruising boaters, announced the release of its Northern and Great Lakes 2007 editions in time for the holidays. The guides contain more than 1,000 total pages, 18,000 updates and 2,000 comprehensive marina listings. Updated annually by experienced on-the-water cruising editors, each guide retails for $39.95.

The 2007 Northern and Great Lakes editions, along with the recently updated 2007 Mid-Atlantic and Southern editions, complete Waterway Guide's set of cruising guides for the 2007 boating season. All four guides are now available for purchase at www.waterwayguide.com or by calling 1-800-233-3359.

“With nearly 20,000 updates between the two guides, our Northern and Great Lakes 2007 editions give cruisers the most up-to-date and accurate navigational, dockage, anchorage and shoreside information possible,” said Publisher Jack Dozier. “Along with the Mid-Atlantic and Southern guides, our Northern and Great Lakes 2007 editions allow boaters to cruise the entire ICW and all bodies of water in between from Maine to the Gulf of Mexico, including all five Great Lakes and America's inland waterway system. Individually, or as a set, the new guides make a great addition to every cruiser's library.”

Waterway Guide's Northern 2007 edition explores Long Island Sound and New England waters from Delaware Bay through Maine. The 400-plus-page guide includes:

- 10,450 updates.
- Bridge photos and aerial photography with white-lined routes.
- Enhanced bridge tables, GPS waypoints, distance charts and planning maps.
- Over 1,000 comprehensive marina listings.

The Great Lakes 2007 guide covers Lake Ontario, Lake Erie, Lake Huron, Lake Michigan, Lake Superior and the Great Loop from the Erie Canal to the Gulf of Mexico. The 500-plus-page guide contains:

- 8,250 updates.
- Updated bridge tables.
- Bridge photos and new aerial photography of major waterways.
- 1,200 comprehensive marina listings and what to do ashore.

All four 2007 editions, Mid-Atlantic, Southern, Northern and Great Lakes, can now be ordered online or by phone for Christmas delivery.

With more than one million copies in circulation, Waterway Guide has been America's most trusted cruising authority for 60 years. Owned by Jack and Craig Dozier of Deltaville, Va., Waterway Guide is based in the historic Eastport section of Annapolis, Md.
