

Reported in Patch, Point Pleasant, NJ

NEW JERSEY – New Jersey marinas will be open during the coronavirus crisis, Gov. Phil Murphy said on Saturday.

Murphy joined NY Gov. Andrew M. Cuomo and Ct. Gov. Ned Lamont in announcing that marinas, boatyards and marine manufacturers will be allowed to open for personal use as long as strict social distancing and sanitization protocols are followed.

Chartered watercraft services or rentals will not be allowed, and restaurant activity at these sites must be limited to take-out or delivery only, like anywhere else in the three states.

This announcement aligns the policies of the three states on this particular service.

Waterway Guide has been unable to locate the official order executed by the Governor.